

A Sample Day with Michael Thompson (and other helpful information)

A Sample Day with Michael Thompson

Schools and other organizations often ask how to use Dr. Thompson's time when he is visiting. Dr. Thompson has over thirty topics on which he has spoken or written, all of which are described on the Workshops page of the website. However, schools have found a small group of topics to be particularly relevant for their teachers, parents and students.

Below are three samples of how schools or conferences have used Dr. Thompson's time during a visit. Please note that Dr. Thompson is willing to make five presentations and/or meetings in a continuous ten-hour day, often addressing all three constituencies in a school. (He will not work a split day that lasts twelve or fourteen hours. Please do not ask).

CONFERENCES

At conferences, Dr. Thompson usually gives a keynote speech of 45 minutes and two additional break-out sessions from 60-90 minutes each. All of the major presentations listed on the Workshop page of the website have been keynote presentations in the past.

WORKSHOPS TO ADDRESS SPECIFIC SCHOOL CHALLENGES

Dr. Thompson is willing to conduct a day-long workshop with discussions devoted to school culture or to address particular challenges that a school may be facing. Schools wishing to have Dr. Thompson make observations or assessments need to discuss those with him directly.

TRAVEL DAYS

Dr. Thompson typically travels on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. During the academic year, he needs to be back in Boston on Thursdays to work at Belmont Hill School where he is the supervising psychologist. Occasionally, Dr. Thompson will schedule Friday presentations at conferences.

FEES

Dr. Thompson charges a flat fee (plus travel expenses) for a full day (10 consecutive hours) of presentations. He has a varying fee structure for independent, public and international schools as well as lower fees for half-day and evening presentations within driving distance of Boston. Please contact his assistant, Elizabeth Diggins, for a specific fee quotation (digliznow@gmail.com).

AV

Dr. Thompson often shows video clips with sound; he only rarely uses Power Point. He requests a lavalier or hand-held wireless microphone if the room is large enough to warrant the use of a microphone.

BOOKS

If you are hosting a visit by Dr. Thompson and would like to have a book signing/sale you are welcome to order books through your local bookseller or you may contact Ballantine Books/Random House directly. The Special Sales Department can be reached at 1-800-733-3000. Please tell the Customer Service Representative that you are hosting a visit by Michael Thompson and you will receive a 40% discount on all books ordered.
